CONTRACT TRAINING CONSULTANT – JAPANESE SPEAKING

Triple P International is responsible for the dissemination of the Triple P-Positive Parenting Program® (Triple P), an evidence-based multi-level family intervention program that helps parents and carers provide a positive learning environment, promote secure attachment, and calmly manage and prevent conduct problems in children and adolescents. This award-winning program is a strengths-based program that encourages parents to develop the knowledge, skills and confidence to provide safe, caring and healthy family environments. Triple P is built on a self-regulatory framework, and parents are encouraged to develop and improve independent problem-solving skills. The suite of Triple P programs includes programs for parents of young children, teenagers, and children who have a disability and is based on decades of research and clinical trials. As part of our continued growth, we're looking for the following:

The Role

Training Consultants are contracted to train and accredit practitioners from a variety of disciplines (i.e. health, education and social services) in the delivery of Triple P interventions for parents of children and adolescents. This includes:

- Delivery of one- to five-day active skills training programs (currently via Zoom).
- Follow-up accreditation processes to assess participants' parent consultation skills.
- Technical assistance and consultative support to organisations adopting Triple P.
- Assist with large group parenting seminars and engagement strategies with families and organisations.

The Person

To be considered for this role the following criteria will be considered:

- Assignments are determined by Triple P and negotiated depending upon trainer's availability and work flexibility
- Willingness to travel to Japan (when possible) to deliver training. (This may include out of hours or weekend travel).
- Ability to deliver training in Japanese.
- Post-graduate degree in psychology (e.g., Masters, PhD), preferably clinical or educational (or related field).
- Clinical experience working with children and families.
- Experience in group training facilitation and/or teaching.
- Familiarity and experience with Triple P, particularly being an Accredited Triple P Provider, is preferable although not essential.
- An ability to work with others and facilitate groups to work effectively together.
- Excellent communications skills.
- The ability to give constructive feedback in a positive, non-judgmental way.
- Flexibility and adaptability in relation to training arrangements and plans.

Why Work for Triple P ?

- Negotiable working relationships based on availability and circumstances.
- Flexible contract terms.
- Competitive pay rates, including travel, accommodation and meal allowances and travel insurance when applicable.
- Join a team working towards making a positive difference to the lives of children and families across the world.
